Dubious Outlook For Aged Women's Home.

REAL FACTS DISCLOSED AT THE RECENT ANNUAL MEETING.

Institution Badly In Debt And Trustees Perplexed.

The annual meeting of the managers of the Home for Aged Women was held at the Home last Friday. It was called to order by the president, Rev. Alfred Elwyn. The following reports were called for, read and accepted: Of the last annual and special meetings; of the general treasurer, F. J. Philbrick, and of the treasurer of current expenses, Mrs. F. J. Philbrick.

The latter reported that, through the lack of funds, quite a number of the bills of the past year she was unable to pay; that the Home was heavily in debt for repairs to the roof, additions to the entire building and other outlay. The year's coal bill was also due, and in all the Home was several hundred dollars in arrears.

A long discussion ensued on the serious outlook for the Home. As the treasurer had no money, as the Home was owing the treasurer of current expenses and she had no funds to carry on the daily work, the prospect was indeed dark for the institution.

The trustees tried to devise some means of getting money to meet the necessary expense but could agree upon no plan that appeared satisfactory. At the present date no arrangements have been made to relieve the difficulty.

Mrs. Philbrick, manager of the Home for ten years, five associate and five solo managers, resigned her important post, which was immediately followed by the following hearty expression of her efficiency.

Resolved,—That Mrs. Philbrick's management has been invaluable. Her promptness in meeting and providing for the emergencies which institutions of this kind are liable to, attest the sagacity which makes her work and the serious loss which her resignation would be to its best interests. Therefore, it is earnestly recommended that she be elected president of the board of managers and treasurer of current expenses.

The secretary was requested to put the above resolutions on the records of the Home and have them published with the report of this meeting.

The resignation of Mrs. E. A. Pearson as one of the trustees of the Home was handed in, and the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved,—That we sincerely regret the necessity of receiving Miss Pearson's resignation, her co-workers having always found her counsel and co-operations wise, sympathetic and generous. She was one of the founders and for many years an active friend of the Home to which she brought executive ability and strong faith. While her removal from Portsmouth at last breaks the official tie which bound her to us, we shall ever hold in grateful remembrance her faithful and loving service.

The old board of trustees was re-elected, with the exception of Miss Pearson. Thomas P. Salter and J. Lewis Harris were unanimously elected to the board.

The following board of managers was elected to look directly after the details of the Home, under the supervision of the trustees, who have general charge of all the matters pertaining to the institution:

President and treasurer of current expenses, Mrs. F. J. Philbrick.

Vice president, Mrs. James R. Connell.

Secretary, Miss Cornelia P. Murgidge.

Managers, Miss Annie White, Miss Nellie Walker, Mrs. John S. Rand, Mrs. John Sweetser, Mrs. Hayford, Mrs. Currier, Miss Ann Mendham, Mrs. Harry Freeman, Mrs. John W. Emery, Mrs. Charles Hatch, Mrs. Greene, Mrs. Louis E. Staples, Mrs. Bravett, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Horace Frye, Mrs. John Milton, Mrs. George Ward, Mrs. Albert Pickering.

The officers of the institution lay the blame for the present discouraging state of affairs to the cutting off of the yearly appropriation of $500 which the Home has been accustomed to receiving from the city.

This regular addition to the funds of the Home was practically its only source of dependence. A petition for the continuance of the appropriation, (signed by scores of prominent citizens,) was presented to the mayor and the board of overseers of the poor last summer, but it was ignored.

The remaining funds of the Home draw very small interest, only three percent, of which but a little is immediately available.

It is thought that if the derangement of affairs can be ruled over for the coming year, in some way, by that time the institution can be restored to its former reliable basis.

THE MANCHESTER MUSTER.

Here are some of the rules governing the try out of the tubs at the Home's muster in Manchester Thursday, in which the Portsmouth Vets will participate.

1. Number of men—The number of men working on the engine shall not be limited.

2. Hose—Each engine will draught its own water and play a horizontal stream through 200 feet of hose, which will be furnished by the management, using such pipes and nozzles as each may wish.

3. First to play—The first engine to play will be allowed to set and get in working order and pass water through the hose (but not to wet the measuring platform) before their time is called; all others to set, play and vacate the stand within the playing time.

4. Running of hose—Time not to exceed five minutes will be allowed to replace bursted hose. Extra hose for that purpose will be provided and checked at hand.

5. Steam measurement—The steam measurements will be made wholly upon paper, which shall be eight feet wide and no measurements will be made when the water falls on the ground.

The Portsmouth Vets think they will show up strongly with their good old machine. This expects a splendid time, for they well know the hospitality of their Manchester comrades.

ANOTHER STRIKE IN DOVER.

A strike of machine printers, practically the entire force in their department, of the Dover Print works, Dover, quit work Monday morning, and a new strike is on.

The grievance given as a reason for their action is that the boss, Benjamin Brierly, had engaged and put at work a non union printer.

The printers, though not great in number, are a very important part of the force. They are highly skilled workers and make high pay.

One claim made is that the non union man had been imported from the Magog Print works, Canada, and that he came here in violation of the alien contract law.

The printers say that one of their number left last week, that Monday morning two union men and a non union man applied for the place, and that the non-union applicant was hired in preference to either of the others. That is what they are kicking about.

JOHNNY GAHAGAN.

About all the Portsmouth boys in the First New Hampshire regiment at Chickamauga and Lexington knew and liked Johnny Gahagan, a big young chap from Concord whose proper sphere was a place larger than any in New Hampshire. John was servant to Col. Robert H. Bolls and the other officers at head quarters and made a splendid record for himself as an obliging young chap until he was finally landed in the hospital, stricken with typhoid. John is now a new bell boy, on night duty, at the New Manchester house in Manchester.

AN OLD SHIPBUILDER DEAD.

Word was received here Monday of the death of Samuel Darton at his home in Chelsea. Mr. Darton was one of the last of the old-time shipbuilders of the Piscataqua river and resided in this city for many years. He is survived by a daughter and a brother-in-law, Richard Seely of this city. The body will be brought here for interment.

VOLUBLE MRS. RICKER.

She Says That Woman Will Vote, Some Sweet Day.

"Would I like to go to Congress?" repeated Mrs. Mailla Ricker of Dover, when questioned by a Manchester Union reporter, Monday. "Why certainly. I expect to go some day. It is only a question of time. Women will vote some day and then I shall go. I said when I first tried to vote—and you know I was the first woman in the country to try to vote,"—she explained—"that I should go to Congress some day. Yes," Mrs. Ricker added, "I voted before Susan B. Anthony tried to vote in New York state. Our election came in March that year and the New York election not until fall."

"Then you really think the women of New Hampshire will vote in general elections?" queried the reporter. "How soon do you think that will happen?" "Oh, one cannot say," was the rejoinder. "It may be sooner or it may be later than we anticipate. It will be some day. Why, when I first tried to vote, women did not have the chance to vote even in school elections. Now they not only have that in many states, and in municipal elections in others, but in four states they are on an equal footing with men. That shows which way things are moving, doesn't it?"

"Women have just as much right to vote on all questions as men," continued the enthusiast. "They pay taxes, are judged by the same courts and punished by the same statutes as men. If the provisions in the state statutes can be construed to apply to women, why should it not be so construed in the provisions for suffrage?"

"Well, do you expect to run for Congress in the next election campaign?" Mrs. Ricker was asked.

"I can't say," was her reply. "It is too far ahead."

HORSE NOTES.

This is considered the last week of racing for the big stables for 1899.

Kingmond is a double Wilkes, having that blood on both sides of his breeding.

A favorite has never won the Transylvania yet and the one last week was the eleventh.

New Englanders are buying very heavily in Kentucky and preparing for the races in 1900.

The Maryland farming string has finally broken the spell of 2 10 13 by Kingmond's mile at Lexington in 2:09.

The fast horses cannot race one day best two in three and the next best three in five and come out of it with any credit to themselves, as they call for a different system of training.

From all accounts Peter the Great and Idolita lost their races at Lexington from being short of work. They both died away in the third heat, while the winners in each of these races had the benefit of two easy workouts, with not so much as a shaking of heads in the judge's stand.

TEA TABLE TALK.

When Mr. Fairman arranged the coming tour of his representative New England Military band, he concluded that a musical specialty of national reputation must be secured; one that would in every detail meet the wishes of the generous public—the same to be added to his really meritorious band concerts, already thoroughly organized and completely equipped. Not that the performances of his band required strengthening, but to present an unusually great instrumental feature, to further cater to the musical tastes of the masses, giving them a grander return for patronage extended. Hence the engagement of Miss May Cook, California's distinguished cornet soloist, who will positively appear in her pleasing specialties at every concert.

If those men who went out on a strike at the Dover print works Monday were getting from twenty-four to forty-eight dollars every week, as I understand, it seems to me that they acted foolishly and don't deserve such fat jobs again in a hurry. A million men would work along for a lifetime on such pay and never think of striking.

The members of the High school football team feel pretty sore because they haven't received more credit for their work against the P. A. A. team Saturday. I think they made a good showing, considering the heavier men that opposed them, and the more mature experience which they had to meet. The young chaps say they'd like to play that game over again and have their best team right through—they wouldn't do a thing to the P. A. A!

Those fellows who, just for a joke, waylaid an acquaintance in a lonely spot in Kittery on a recent night, and relieved him of his money probably think it a good joke. However, if he had happened to have a revolver and his wits about him, one or two of them might not be around to laugh about it. Such sequels have occurred.

NO YACHT RACE TODAY.

Special to the Herald.

New York, Oct. 10.—The unfavorable conditions which made flakes of the first three trials for the America's cup, last week got in their work again today and the race between Columbia and Shamrock had to be called off.

The sea was like glass, and the breeze in the air was unstirred by the breeze. It would have been farcical to have sent the yachts out upon the course in such lazy weather.

FOR CONGRESS.

J. Alonzo Greene, of Moultonboro.

J. ALONZO GREENE, the People's Popular Candidate.

Major J. Alonzo Greene is of general public interest because of his candidacy for the republican nomination to congress. No charges have been brought against the public or private life of Maj. Greene and his friends seem to be very numerous in most unexpected places, and their quiet work as it gradually creeps into the newspapers daily strengthens the valiant major's cause. Biographical statistics are hardly necessary for a man who has lived before the public eye for a quarter of a century. The unpublished phases contain many incidents of humanity and charity which are creditable to the warm heart and generous impulses of the genial proprietor of the famous hostelry, "New Hotel Weirs."

Having decided to retire from active participation in business affairs, the subject of this sketch spent the summers of 1886, '87 and '88 among the mountains and valleys of New Hampshire, which hold for him a peculiar fascination. He traveled extensively through the mountains and among the lakes and seaside resorts of New England, searching for what his family and himself might consider the best place in which to locate, leaving the busy cares of a city life to pass their remaining years in comfort and quiet in the country. In 1889, he purchased a magnificent property on Long Island, the most picturesque island of Lake Winnepesaukee, in the town of Moultonboro, and there, with increasing devotion to the state of his adoption, has ever since held his legal residence.

Dr. Greene was born in Whitingham, Vt., Nov. 5, 1845, just across the river from his adopted state, and he has remarked that the next best thing to being born in the state was to be born on the side hill, where he could look across the river at the New Hampshire mountains. A man of the Doctor's breadth of intellect, superior ability and vast wealth of resource and experience could not be long ignored in any community, especially as he asked nothing beyond the good will of his fellow citizens. The confident trust of those associated with him has been his mascot to the 32d degree of Free Masonry and his open as same to the foremost rank of membership in the Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Grange, Amoskeag Veterans, Elks and Grand Army of the Republic.

When a boy of 18, in 1863, he enlisted at Denver, Col., in the First Colorado, served during the war, and was discharged at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, in the fall of 1865. The Doctor is one of the very few men who went into the army as a private soldier and was discharged, holding the same rank, his promotion coming only in time of peace long years after the close of the war, when he was commissioned by both Governors Busiel and Rollins.

Major Greene is ex-president of the National Veteran association of New Hampshire and is now its treasurer; also ex-president of the N. H. Veteran association and past-commander of Post 86. His membership in the G. A. R. and in all the various bodies above mentioned was transferred to New Hampshire when he first moved here, showing conclusively that he came with the intention of being a permanent resident.

The National Veteran association was enabled to cancel its debt on a magnificent building at The Weirs largely through the generosity of Commander Greene, and it is well known that the elegant banner carried in all the parades of the state G. A. R. and the beautiful gold-mounted sword worn by the commander were presented by the same comrade. Major Greene also established and maintained, for years, at his own personal expense, the emergency hospital during the reunions at The Weirs, and the various money prizes awarded to the oldest man, young man, homeliest man, ugliest man, etc., etc., came from the same source.

One of Maj. Greene's army exploits was after the fighting was over and he was waiting to be honorably discharged. It was not a fight as is generally understood in war language, but a fight against hunger and possible starvation. "Jean Paul" tells this story in one of his interesting articles in the Granite Monthly.

The regiment in which the Major was a private soldier was on its way from PRIVATE J. A. GREENE—1865. When Discharged from the Army.

New Mexico to Fort Leavenworth, to be mustered out of the service. Antelope and other game were plentiful, and three of the boys, including Private Greene, ran the guard one evening for a moonlight hunt, got separated from his two companions and lost. After roaming around for three days, sustaining himself on raw antelope meat, he met a corporal's guard, who arrested him for desertion and sent him alone to camp, which he reached after three days' travel, having been absent from his regiment six days in all.

The exploit, which is a pet story of the major's, was satisfactorily explained to the captain (Anderson) and the major who was in command (Wynne) and Greene was excused and returned to his company for duty. He was afterwards honorably discharged with his regiment.

Deer were numerous along the river bank and the soldier boys were always glad to get venison for breakfast. It was a common practice in those days, when the rebellion was practically over, for two or three of them to take a hunt by moonlight for sport, and this incident was considered an every day occurrence in army life and never looked upon seriously until after the Major became a political candidate, when it was given the worst construction possible to his detriment.

The names of thousands of soldiers appear on the records as deserters, from the fact that all who are not present at roll call while a regiment is on a march, and who are not accounted for, must, under military rules, be reported as deserters until they have been excused or pardoned. In Major Greene's case it was readily understood by the officers of the regiment, as they knew the situation thoroughly, and it seems the more strange, therefore, that political capital should be made of a boyish prank which occurred so frequently in the regiment. It must be understood, also, that when this took place the First Colorado was not within 500 miles of the Confederate States, that the rebel army had surrendered, and nearly all the forces at the front had been discharged.

The idea that a boy soldier as shown in the above picture, which is from a photograph taken in 1865, about to be mustered out of service, with thoughts of home and friends foremost in his mind, should desert in a country hundreds of miles from any town, infested only with wolves and bands of Indians, is absurdly preposterous.

It is certainly extremely uncomplimentary to the members of the G. A. R. to think that for a moment they would retain in their ranks such a man, especially since they have made him commander of a post, president of the two great veterans' associations, and still honor him as treasurer of one of them, if he had been a deserter.

If the officers of young Greene's regiment could excuse his indiscretion, and if the officials of the G. A. R. and the two associations of veterans, who have examined his discharge papers, have seen fit to honor him with the highest offices in their gift, it seems that the voters of the First New Hampshire Congressional District could be equally lenient.

Dr. Greene's interests have become identified with the state; his heart and home are certainly here. For instance, he built the steamers Eagle and Roxmont and established a steamboat line on the eastern shores of Lake Winnepesaukee, thus bringing into direct intercourse with the business and commercial world the remote islands and isolated villages of the lake region, which heretofore had been deprived of proper mail and transportation facilities.

The New Hotel Weirs, which was purchased and improved by the doctor, is one of the finest hotels in the state, and the increase of summer travel across the lake has been largely the outgrowth of his persevering and persistent efforts in building up this locality.

He is also a director in two New Hampshire national banks, director and shareholder in two New Hampshire building associations, and a stockholder in one of the largest and most influential daily newspapers in the state.

In the summer of 1889 Dr. Greene bought the two farms now comprising his old homestead on Long Island and moved thither immediately with his wife and son, household effects, horses, dog and all, and established there his legal residence.

It has been said by the doctor's political opponents that the dinner given a short time ago to the Amoskeag Veterans and nearly a thousand of the prominent men in New Hampshire, was of a selfish nature and for political advancement. The statement is rendered entirely negative and inoperative from the fact that the major entertained the Amoskeag Veterans and hundreds of their friends in 1892 at his home on Long Island. As still further evidence that the doctor's hospitality is not entirely of a self interested nature, it is proper to state that in the same year mentioned, among the people who favored the doctor, and who came in large bodies, by special train and steamboats, were the Free Masons and ladies of Belknap and Carroll counties, the Odd Fellows, the Knights of Pythias, the State Grange and the State Board of Agriculture, with their ladies and friends. It is a well authenticated fact that, in a single week, 4000 people were entertained at dinner by the hospitable doctor. The writer recently interviewed Major Greene regarding this point. Said the Major, "Why, the idea is utterly absurd; the cost of the entertainments that I have given during the past few years to the friends who have honored me by accepting my invitations and hospitality far exceeds the amount of money which is generally expended by the successful aspirant to high political office. The expense and entertainment at this particular dinner of which you speak, when the governor and the highest officials of the state favored me with their presence, depleted my bank account to a much greater extent than my canvass for congressional honors will do, and I believe that this money expended directly to push a political canvass would have been far more beneficial, from a political standpoint; but I assure you that if these dinners have been of assistance to me in helping me to gratify my ambition, I am much pleased.

"I desire most emphatically to state that I shall employ no questionable means whatever to secure my nomination. I should be pleased to be put under bonds, with the other aspirants for congressional honors, to use no funds whatever outside of the necessary and legal expenses of an honest political campaign."

TUESDAY, OCT. 10, 1899.

Now, Columbia.

No war news from South Africa is good news.

Mr. Bryan will get the delegates from Luzon.

Oom Paul might at least hold off until after the yacht races.

Sir Thomas continues to remind one of Damocles; he is so different.

One of the men that "discovered Dewey" was the Spaniard that let go the first gun at him when he sailed into Manila bay.

Up to date Sir Thomas is entirely satisfied. So are the Americans. And—We may be happy yet, You see.

And now the democrats talk of running Schley for vice president. A war hero seems to be necessary, and Colonel Bryan hardly fills the bill.

A New Yorker that blew into Portsmouth yesterday remarked that in the Dewey parade Teddy Roosevelt was at least as popular as the admiral.

Dr. Nansen is convinced that the North pole cannot be reached. But in the light of recent American exploring enterprise there is no such word as cannot.

The decision in the Anglo-Venezuelan dispute is exceedingly technical. The chief points are that the findings were unanimous, and slightly in favor of Great Britain.

Incidentally Professor Marconi succeeded with his wireless telegraphy. After the excitement of the races is over we shall make an effort to become interested in his work.

TWO FAMOUS DISPATCHES.

After all the bands, the red fire, the huzzas, and the orations, the real thing in the thrill line—the peculiar sensation in the neighborhood of your chest—is to be found in the following paragraphs:

"Washington, April 24, 1898.—Dewey, Hongkong. We have commenced by two the United States and Spain. Proceed at once to Philippine islands. Begin operations at once, particularly against the Spanish fleet. You must capture vessels or destroy. Use utmost endeavors."
LONG

"Manila, May 1.—Secretary of the Navy, Washington. The squadron arrived at Manila at daylight this morning. Immediately engaged the enemy and destroyed the following vessels: * * * The squadron is unharmed. Few men were slightly wounded."
DEWEY.

THE INTERVIEWER.

"I have never heard an American give the proper pronunciation of Dreyfus," said a French scholar, the other day. "The word contains the 'u' which to Americans is so hard to pronounce the French way. I have an idea, though, every one knows who is meant when the American way of Dray-fuss is given."

"The change of air and scenery and a drink of good water, is what often does the good for the men who go into the woods," said a Portsmouth sportsman. "I know a spring of water at camp on the Moosehead that I will place beside that of the Poland Springs. If men will go into the woods and drink that water they cannot help coming out at the end of a week improved in health."

OUR TROOPS BEFORE PHILIPPINO STRONGHOLD.

MANILA, Oct. 9.—General Schwan's column, consisting of the Thirteenth infantry, a battalion of the Fourteenth infantry, two troops of cavalry, a battery of the Fifth artillery and Lowe's scouts, continued their advance today toward San Francisco de Malabon and met with little resistance and suffered no casualties. The enemy fell back steadily. This evening the column is resting between Santa Cruz and San Francisco de Malabon, the American camp being in sight of the latter place, which is the stronghold of the insurgents in the province of Cavite, where the Philippines are said to number 5000. The Americans have captured 300 men. An expedition composed of the United States gunboats Caliao and Manila has left for the Pasig river.

PARADE OF ALL NATIONS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The most spectacular and the best feature of the fall festival was the parade of all nations, which took place tonight, and was witnessed by crowds upon crowds of sightseers, who lined the streets through which the parade passed. In the parade marched representatives of four teen countries, and it also included thirty floats, some of them extremely beautiful and novel, the one attracting the most attention being a great Chinese dragon, which was shipped from San Francisco, and was nearly 300 feet long. The parade was to have been reviewed by President McKinley, but on account of the lateness of the hour he was unable to be present.

Moore, the fugitive former bank teller of the National Bank of Commerce of Boston. The United States has asked Chile to surrender him on the charge of embezzlement.

THE ALL ABSORBING TOPIC.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—A quiet feeling of expectancy prevails in yachting circles tonight on account of the race to-morrow, as all know that the yacht will race every day after Wednesday. The race is the talk of the town. Weather is the important thing now. On the deck of the Columbia men are engaged in cutting and rehting sails, which shows a feeling of nervousness.

BILLY BRYAN IS ALL RIGHT.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 9.—In reply to a telegraph inquiry as to the condition of Hon. William J. Bryan, who is stopping with Hon. Fred White, democratic candidate for governor of Iowa, he said: "My condition is not serious, am much better today. I hope to be able to resume my tour tomorrow."

GOV. ROOSEVELT WILL BE THERE.

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—Governor Roosevelt of New York will be the guest of honor at the meeting of the republicans of Massachusetts in Music hall on Oct. 11st. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge will also be present and will deliver his first speech since his European trip.

WANTS THE LIBERTY BELL.

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—This city wishes to have the Liberty bell brought here from Philadelphia next June, when the 125th anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill will be celebrated.

GOVERNOR WOLCOTT ISSUES A PROCLAMATION.

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—Gov. Wolcott, in a proclamation today, requested the citizens of Boston to celebrate Dewey day on Saturday as a holiday.

ON HIS WAY HOME.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—The steamer City of Peking, from Hong Kong and Yokohama, has arrived here. On board is Alfred D. Vanderbilt, who is on his way home.

STRONG TESTIMONY.

This is Portsmouth Testimony and Will Stand Investigation.

If you doubt the following and wish to investigate, you haven't to go to some other state in the Union to prove it. It is not a long story published in Portsmouth newspapers about a lady named Mrs. M. J. or Tampa, Fla. It is not a story of Portsmouth and given in his own words. No stronger proof can be had.

Mr. Charles Kennedy of 25 Gates street says: "A few years ago I was laid up with rheumatism for over two months so that I could not get out of the house. I never gained my former strength and my kidneys were not to become sluggish. During the winter I was taken with a very lame back and the constant ache made me miserable. I was so sore over my kidneys that I could hardly pick up anything from the floor, and twinges caught me in the back that were excruciating. I went to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, after I commenced to use them I gradually grew better till the twinges and soreness entirely disappeared."

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Forecast for New England. 1st Tuesday, preceded by rain on the south coast. Wednesday increasing cloudiness and showers, winds shifting to fresh southeasterly.

LOCAL STORIES.

The story is told of a Portsmouth man on a visit to the northern woods who was deceived by distances. He has one of those lay natures that care more for a chance to sit down than to gaze upon the beauties of this earth. He had been told that a certain pond that could be seen from the house was but two miles away and he started to walk to it through the woods. You know that in the country, especially in the woods, distances seem long, and he soon it was ten miles if it was a step. He is often rather waggish by nature and he approached a brook when about half way there that was not over four feet across. He began to remove his clothing and when asked what he was going to do he replied "I am going to swim this river." The friend protested that the brook was not wide enough to require a good swim. "How do I know?" he asked. "Distances are deceiving up there, and it is as long a step as this two miles here now, I shall bedrown in the middle of the brook."

There is a story going the rounds about a certain prominent citizen who shot a duck and presented the trophy of his skill to a woman. She accepted that comes to high is that the young man, a mother of the bird, is a daily, and possibly part of the next. At all events the second day demonstrated the fact that the bird is not edible, and although the sound on was doubtful, and had a great respect for the game parent's feelings, nevertheless he could not overcome his own feelings at the sight of a black, tough looking bird that in its present state appeared unamiable. There is a possible sequel to this story in the reported fact that a certain young man caught a young roon or "stake driver," and kept him until quite tame and recently released him near South Point. By putting this and that together the young grandson's aversion to fowl may be explained.

THE HERALD.

TUESDAY, OCT. 10, 1899.

NEW CITY SPORTS.

Sheridan's New City Sports, direct from Boston, appeared in genuine but-lesque at Music hall on Monday evening. The audience was of good proportions and not at all staid in its applause. Those who remained away from fear that the performance was too risqué for the general playgoing public, had their timidity for naught.

Whatever of suggestiveness it may have contained in its recent prosperous run at the Howard in Boston has been cut out, and it is now not at all offensive. It could not afford to be, considering its bookings. After Concord, Wednesday night, practically all the company's dates are for three nights, a week or two weeks in the large cities between here and Cleveland.

Mr. Sheridan is carrying over thirty people this season. The costumes of the female contingent stamp the organization as being on a sound footing. They cost big money.

The opener is rollicking from start to finish, and affords the comedians (Messrs. McLeod, Nelson, Hart and Mills,) good opportunities which are improved. The olio presents some first class people. Notably so are the Brothers Lowell, comedy grotesque acrobats, whose turn compares favorably with any similar one now before the public.

Carr and McLeod give an unusually clever musical sketch that wins popular approval. Charles B. Nelson, in his character sketch with Marie Milledge, appears in a Hibernian role that he makes inimitable. He ought to have the stage longer.

The ballet of the imps introduces a bevy of girls in an attractive dancing diversion, and gives them a chance to display some elaborate costumes.

The concluding burlesque winds up the programme in good shape.

The audience was a highly respectable one. The most cultured theatregoer in town would have found himself in good company there.

The Sports are at Music hall again tonight.

GRAND ENCAMPMENT. I. O. O. F.

Delegates of the Grand Encampment, New Hampshire Odd Fellows, and the Rebecca assembly, will meet at Keene Tuesday, the Encampment at 11 o'clock in the morning and the Rebecca assembly at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The Grand lodge will meet Wednesday morning at the same place at 9 o'clock. These are annual sessions and business of a routine nature will be conducted.

The report of Grand Secretary Joseph Kidder has been prepared and shows the number of lodges in the state to be ninety-seven, with a total membership of 13,809, an increase of 211 over last year.

BOSTON CONCERT BAND.

Fairman's Boston Concert Band, the representative military band of New England, in concerts par excellence, a perfect band with a grand ensemble of thirty artists and twelve special soloists, will appear at Music hall on Saturday evening next. The band comes with a splendid reputation, and the entertainment is sure to please all who hear it. The concert will be for the benefit of the Cottage hospital.

SAWYER RIFLES COMING.

The confidence prevalent here that Admiral Dewey will not neglect to pay a visit to old Portsmouth seems to be shared in a goodly degree by the Dover public. The Sawyer Rifles of that city at a largely attended meeting Monday evening, voted unanimously to come down and take part in the celebration here, upon the admiral's arrival.

GOOD LOBSTER CATCH.

Charles Robinson, the well known fisherman of Smutty Nose island, came in from the Shoals Monday with two hundred and fifty lobsters, one of the best hauls made in these waters for some time. He reported it hard work getting anything like a satisfactory catch. The lobsters were disposed of here in town at good figures.

SOLD THE STOCK.

Portsmouth And Dover Railroad Stockholders Meet,

AND DISPOSE OF THEIR HOLDINGS TO BOSTON & MAINE.

Two-Thirds Vote Taken In This City This Morning.

The adjourned special meeting of the stockholders of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, to consider the sale of the road's stock to the Boston & Maine, was held in the city council rooms this forenoon, beginning at 11 o'clock. The anticipated happened, and it was voted to sell.

William B. Lawrence was chosen chairman, and the following, from Hon. Frank Jones, president of the road, was read:

To the Stockholders of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad—

On the nineteenth day of May last your directors passed the following votes:

"Voted: That, subject to approval by the stockholders at a meeting to be called for that purpose, the president, or in his absence the treasurer, be and he is hereby authorized to contract with the directors of the Boston and Maine railroad, subject to like approval by the stockholders of that corporation, for the consolidation or union of the two corporations on the following terms:—

For every thirteen shares of the stock of the Portsmouth and Dover railroad, ten shares of the common stock of the Boston and Maine railroad are to be given to the stockholders of the Portsmouth and Dover railroad; Boston and Maine railroad stock convertible into common stock of the Boston and Maine railroad at par to be issued for fractions of shares; and, further,

"Voted: That when the directors of the Boston and Maine railroad shall authorize a contract on the terms specified as aforesaid, and a contract to be ratified by the stockholders of both corporations shall have been executed in accordance therewith, a meeting of the stockholders of the Portsmouth and Dover railroad shall be called by the president to act upon the question of ratification."

The tellers appointed on the vote were P. B. Cheney, Frank Jones and W. D. Pierce. Mayor Page of this city collected the ballots.

The vote was verified by the stock books and then announced:

Whole number cast 391
Voting to sell 318
Negative 73

The chairman stated that two-thirds of those voting having voted in favor of ratification of the vote of the directors, such vote was therefore approved and authorized in accordance with the laws of the state.

TROUBLE WAS AVERTED.

The seventy-five or eighty men employed on the government fortifications at Germish Island received their monthly pay Monday, and the majority of them at once came up town, as the rain prevented any work for the day. They spent their coin freely here and a lot of it went for drinkables.

By dusk, they were all stimulated to a high pitch of excitement and several incipient brawls were stopped with difficulty.

One or two of the men holding the higher grade positions at the island succeeded in rounding up most of the crowd, and sending them back, but quite a bunch were still here after supper and required the most urgent persuasion to get them to return down the harbor.

About 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, a telephone call announcing trouble at the P. K. & Y. ferry landing was received at the police station. Officer Shannon was promptly despatched down there and found a couple of men in a wrangle. He collared them and was going to take them to the station, when both cooled off and begged to be allowed to go across on the ferry which was then about to start.

A companion volunteered to look after them, so the officer escorted them on board and left them. The fellows had done no damage, but Ticket Clerk Bicknell feared that they might, and so called the police station.

DR. GREEN'S CANDIDACY.

A lengthy announcement of the candidacy of Dr. J. Alonzo Greene for the republican nomination to congress appears in the Herald this afternoon. It shows that Dr. Greene is out for the honor in earnest.

CITY BRIEFS.

City Sports again tonight.
Baseball interest has quite died out. Things are very quiet around the city building.

Another rise in building materials has been reported.

News from the yacht race was anxiously awaited today.

The prospects are bright for a lively social season this winter.

The asphalt on the square, around the fountain is a good thing.

A new club, to be called the Bachelor's club, will be instituted in this city Wednesday evening.

The Portsmouth A. A. foot ball team will practice this evening at the usual place at 7.30 o'clock.

Saturday next, Dewey day in Boston, will undoubtedly draw many people from this city, who will be anxious to be numbered among the many thousands and to get a squirt at the fighting admiral.

The school children can all contribute to the Cottage Hospital fund on Saturday by attending the concert at Music hall.

It is recalled that in 1857 it was only on the fifth attempt that the first race for the cup was sailed. Three times the lack of wind and once a fouling accident caused the race to be called off. But on the fifth trial the American yacht Puritan distanced the Genesee.

The benefit for the Cottage hospital at Music hall on Saturday evening next, should draw out an audience limited only by the size of the hall. Aside from the fact that the entertainment is first class in every particular, an opportunity is afforded to assist a worthy institution.

The sound of wedding bells is unusually far spread and clear this autumn and the announcements of marriages have followed each other in unusually close succession thus far. The October weddings will be particularly numerous the month rivaling June as a time for nuptial ceremonies.

Not only is it a series of international races, but there is something extremely international in the character of the Shamrock herself, since she is an Irish built and named boat, owned by a Scotchman, sailed under the English flag, steered by a German captain, and manned by a crew representing several nationalities.

The Augustus Hanson farm in Ehot, Me., consisting of about seventy acres of land with a good set of buildings thereon, will be sold at auction on the premises on Saturday morning, Nov. 2nd, at ten o'clock.
